3Shape TRIOS 5 wins Cellerant Best of Class Hygiene Award

Copenhagen, August 9, 2023 – The 3Shape TRIOS 5 intraoral scanner has been given the Cellerant Best of Class Hygiene Award for 2023.

The achievement underscores the consistent excellence of the TRIOS line of intraoral scanners, which has additionally won ten consecutive Cellerant Best of Class Technology Awards.

The Cellerant Hygiene Award is presented to innovative solutions that improve clinical outcomes, enhance clinician ergonomics, and optimize hygiene treatment.

The recently introduced FDA-cleared 3Shape TRIOS 5 revolutionizes the look and feel of intraoral scanners. Hygienic by design, the TRIOS 5 body is sealed up to its battery inlet and devoid of cracks or crevices where soil or contaminants can accumulate.

The autoclavable scanner tip which is closed by a sapphire glass window also creates a robust microbial barrier between the patient and the scanner.

Additionally, the TRIOS 5 Wireless includes single-use body sleeves that cover the entire area touched by the operator, offering further protection against contamination.

3Shape CEO, Jakob Just-Bomholt expressed his gratitude to the Cellerant panel. Saying, “Winning the award is a terrific honor for our team and made even more so because the Cellerant panel is made up of dental professionals. We appreciate their considering TRIOS for the award,” says Jakob Just-Bomholt, 3Shape Chief Executive Officer.

Dr. Lou Shuman, Best of Class founder and Cellerant CEO said, “We are excited to present 3Shape TRIOS with our Cellerant Best of Class Hygiene Award. Over the past few years, due to the pandemic the dental industry has sought to focus more on hygiene. 3Shape TRIOS 5 helps lead the way with its revolutionary hygienic design. The award acknowledges their innovation.”

The Cellerant Best of Class Hygiene panel consists of Melissa Turner, BASDH, RDHEP, EFDA, Pamela Maragliano-Muniz, RDH, DMD, FACP, Brooke Crouch, RDH, Kristin Goodfellow, RDH, BA, Nancy Miller, RDH, BA, Rachel Wall RDH, BS, Valerie Dangler RDH, BSDH and Sarah Crow, RDH.
